

“I was impressed with her professionalism and determination to offer meaningful support.”

Company name: ATB Group UK Ltd

Name: Alan Quinn

Programme: Skills Support for Redundancy

The company was having to make redundancies, a very difficult time for all involved. They wanted to support the staff at risk and so asked the Jobcentre what they would recommend. They suggested the funded programme Skills Support for Redundancy. They contacted TCHC who run this programme to find out how it worked and if it was suitable for their staff.

TCHC organized the programme for ATB Group staff at risk and came into the company to provide the support. “It was organized very well, I had no complaints whatsoever.”

The staff received a wide range of support including one to one sessions and support on job search, CVs, applications and interviews. “Those who received the training described it as ‘excellent’ and ‘really really useful’.”

The company were pleased that the programme was around as it meant that they could help support their staff. “From the company’s perspective we were able to offer support to employees at a time of uncertainty. This was important to us.”

The company felt that the adviser who supported the staff was very proficient and dedicated to ensure that they received the best possible help. “I was impressed with her professionalism and determination to provide meaningful support.”
